INTRODUCTION

Westmoreland Cleanways' recycling landscape is constantly evolving. Opportunities exist now for recycling a wide range of materials that did not exist just a few years ago. Some of the factors affecting recycling are:

- ♻️ Single Stream Recycling became widely available to the Westmoreland County market in 2007.
- ♻️ The availability of single stream processing has allowed haulers to upgrade municipal curbside recycling programs from accepting just a few items to accepting the full single stream range of recyclables. Be sure to check your municipality's program to see if curbside single stream is available to you.
- ♻️ Passage of Act 108 of 2010, the Covered Device Recycling Act (applies to computers and television) and the proper disposal of other e-waste as a growing environmental danger. New companies are opening every day to address the need for proper e-waste disposal. Many large electronics retailers are recognizing their role in ensuring proper disposal of e-waste and sponsor in-house collections, regardless of where the items were originally purchased.
- ♻️ Much has been made of the improper disposal of e-waste, with cargo shipments of waste going to underdeveloped nations where the toxic byproducts end up in water systems and worse. Westmoreland Cleanways qualifies each vendor it endorses to be sure the e-waste is recycled or disposed in an environmentally secure manner.
- ♻️ The economy of recycling: Recycling is as much a business decision as it is environmental. Source reduction is becoming a preferred way of dealing with waste and reducing cost. The "Zero Waste" philosophy ... "conserves energy, mitigates climate change, reduces water usage, prevents toxics creation, and minimizes ecosystem destruction." source EPA
- ♻️ Recycling is no longer "free" (it actually never was, but the cost was hidden). People are making a conscious choice to recycle. It is the right thing to do, a way to conserve our natural resources and eliminate hazards from our environment.
- ♻️ Recycling can be a wise economic decision if the cost of throwing something away exceeds the cost of recycling. Proper waste management, from waste reduction to recycling, is a great way to reduce operating cost when every dollar counts.

Zero Waste, Sustainability, Extended Producer Responsibility ... these philosophies continue to drive the recycling and waste management landscape. The recycling industry continues to evolve to meet the demands of people who are no longer willing to settle for "it can't be done." New markets are developing to use recycled content material; improved technology results in cleaner processing, which makes recyclables more valuable; and, more businesses are finding solutions to make the waste management industry more responsive and sustainable.

This 2012 Guide lists opportunities to recycle or properly dispose of everything from plastic bottles to thermometers to used cooking oil. It is comprehensive, but we will no doubt miss some listings that would make the guide complete. We will make every effort to stay abreast of the evolving recycling world, to anticipate new trends, to educate consumers and businesses on new recycling laws and opportunities, and to develop new programs to meet the environmental and disposal needs of our residents.

Feel free to contact us with questions or opportunities that aren't listed or should be listed in future editions.

RECYCLING DEFINITIONS

Following are some definitions used in the recycling and solid waste industry that you may find useful and sometimes amusing.

Act 101: Pennsylvania's recycling law passed in 1988; defines which municipalities, businesses and institutions must recycle, what materials are considered recyclable, and consequences of non-compliance.

Act 108 of 2010: Covered Device Recycling Act: bans certain electronic waste from landfill disposal. Covered devices include computers, monitors and peripherals, laptops, and televisions.

Act 140: Passed in 2006, further defines and strengthens provisions of Act 101.

Aluminum can: beverage container made from aluminum

Aseptic containers: the multi-layer plastic, paper and metal packaging that usually contains juice, soy milk and other liquids.

Baler: a machine that compacts certain waste materials into rectangular bundles to reduce volume and to aid in transporting.

Bauxite: Claylike amorphous material, the main ore for the production of aluminum

Bi-metal can: a can made from 2 or more metals, usually a steel body and aluminum lid

Biodegradable: Capable of being converted into basic compounds or elements by bacteria

Bulk Goods: Refers to household appliances (washers, dryers, refrigerators, etc.). The salvage industry extracts valuable metals from these items. Also see WHITE GOODS

Commingled Recycling: The pick-up of several recyclable materials mixed together; usually does not include fiber. May include plastic, glass, and metal containers.

Commodity: A recyclable material with economic value.

Contaminant: A material that is harmful to the recycling process or that destroys the value of the recyclable material.

Construction Waste (also Construction and Demolition, or C&D): Waste material produced in the construction of homes, buildings, etc. Includes lumber, metal, sheet rock. Clean C&D can be recycled. C&D from old building demolition cannot be recycled. Must be taken to a permitted C&D facility to ensure recycling.

Covered Devices Recycling Act (CDRA): see Act 108 of 2010

Cullet: Scrap glass, usually broken in to small uniform pieces. This is how glass is typically marketed for resale/recycling.

Curbside Collection: Collection of recyclables or trash directly from a resident's home.

De-inking: Process of removing inks and dyes from printed paper for use in making new paper.

Dirty MRF: Material recovery facility where recyclables are removed from municipal solid waste.

Diversion: Finding other means of disposing waste rather than landfilling, such as recycling, reusing, or composting.

Drop-off Recycling: System where recyclables are collected at a central location in a community, typically for use by the general public.

Extended Producer Responsibility (EPR): A movement to put the responsibility (and cost) for recycling and/or proper disposal of a material onto the manufacturer. This is a growing trend in other countries, and in some industries such as electronics.

Ferrous Metals: Metals with iron content; a magnet will stick to ferrous metal.

Fiber: Refers to any paper or paper-like stock made from plant material. Includes cardboard, fiberboard, chipboard, office paper, kraft paper, newsprint, glossy paper, and similar materials. Usually collected separately from other types of recyclable material. See COMMINGLED RECYCLING

Food Waste: Household or restaurant table scraps; Produce left over or otherwise not suitable for sale by grocery stores, markets, etc.

Food and beverage containers: Containers made from plastic, glass or metal for storing food and beverages.

Gaylord box: Reusable corrugated (or other construction) container for storing and transporting recyclables. Typically 4' square; can be moved on a pallet.

Heavy Metals: Metals such as cadmium, lead, and mercury that are persistent in the environment and are poisonous. Heavy metals are found in all electronics; thus the need for proper handling and disposal.

Household Hazardous Waste (HHW): Waste material generated in a household that may cause or contribute to human illness and/or environmental damage if not managed properly.

Junk: Residential or commercial waste having no apparent commercial value.

Leaf Waste: Leaves, garden residue, shrubbery and tree trimmings; does NOT include grass clippings. Leaf waste is BANNED from being disposed in landfills by PA Act 101; must be collected through a curbside collection in all mandated municipalities.

Mandatory recycling: Recycling program required by PA Act 101.

Mixed Paper: Category of waste paper that typically includes newsprint (black & white and color inserts), office paper, junk mail, magazines/catalogs, and telephone books.

Mobius: A mobius loop is the symbol often referred to as the recycling symbol. It consists of three arrows pointing at each other, forming a type of triangle. The concept is that the cycle of natural resources has no beginning and no end.

Municipal Solid Waste (MSW): That category of waste produced by consumers; generated in households, offices, lunchrooms, institutions. DOES NOT include manufacturing or industrial waste or scrap.

Non-ferrous Scrap Metal: Metals that contain no iron; not magnetic. Ex: aluminum, brass, copper, etc.

OCC: Old Corrugated Cardboard

Organic Waste: Any waste derived from plant or animal tissue. May include paper, wood, food and yard waste.

Pallets (or skids): roughly 4' x 4' wooden platforms used for shipping. Can be re-used until broken; can be chipped for mulch if clean; make excellent multi-bin compost bins.

Pay-As-You-Throw (PAYT): Also called bag system or sticker system. PAYT programs charge residents for waste removal services based on the quantity of material discarded. Theoretically, PAYT encourages people to recycle and reduce their waste, because the more material that is recycled or otherwise removed from the waste stream, the lower the waste bill.

Plastics: Man-made material derived from fossil fuel. See Resin Code Chart on P. 7 for commonly used grades of plastic.

Pre-Consumer Waste: Waste material generated through the manufacturing process (such as printer scrap, metal shavings, defective pieces that are not used as a finished product, and the like).

Post-Consumer Waste: Materials that have been discarded by the buyer or consumer, as opposed to leftovers or scrap from industrial or manufacturing processes (see PRE-CONSUMER WASTE).

Rare Earth Metals: are a set of seventeen chemical elements, specifically the fifteen lanthanides plus scandium and yttrium, that contain unique properties that have enabled the miniaturization of electronic components including capacitors, lasers and powerful magnets.

Recyclable Material: Any material that can be remade into another product.

Recycle: To transform a waste material for use as an ingredient to manufacture another product.

Re-use: To use a waste product over again or for another purpose (without changing its form).

Recycled Content: The percentage of waste material used in the manufacture of a new product as compared to virgin content.

Residual Waste: Non-hazardous industrial waste that sometimes requires special handling, as opposed to municipal solid waste.

Sanitary Landfill: Site that has been specially prepared for the disposal of solid waste, to avoid contamination of surrounding land, water and air.

Single Stream Recycling: The pickup of all recyclables, regardless of type. May include plastic, glass, metal, fiber, and aseptic containers

Solid Waste Management (SWM): Science of planning for, collection, storage, recycling and/or proper disposition of waste.

Sorted Office Waste Paper: Category of paper generally produced in offices to include white office paper, ledger and computer paper.

Steel can: Food or beverage container made of steel; lined with tin plate or sometimes plastic to prevent corrosion and contamination of food.

Sustainable Packaging: Industry movement working across the supply chain to design product packaging with a view toward reduction, re-use, and recyclability.

Tin can: Can made of steel with a tin liner.

Transfer Station: Facility where waste materials from smaller collection vehicles can be taken and transferred to larger transport containers for shipment to landfill or processing center.

UBC: Used beverage container

Virgin Material: Also primary or raw material: New material used for manufacturing basic products (wood pulp, iron ore, silica, bauxite).

Waste Reduction: The prevention of waste at its source by reducing consumption, packaging or other method.

Waste Stream: The material output of an area, location, or facility (i.e. our business's waste stream contains 50% paper that can be recycled).

White Goods: Generally refers to major appliances such as stoves, refrigerators, washers, etc.

Waste-to-Energy: The process of creating energy in the form of electricity or heat from the incineration of waste.

Yard Waste: See LEAF WASTE

DISPOSING OF GENERAL PURPOSE & ALKALINE BATTERIES

Following is information directly from Duracell's website (11/10):

“Alkaline batteries can be safely disposed of with normal household waste. Never dispose of batteries in fire because they could explode.

Due to concerns about mercury in the municipal solid waste stream, we have voluntarily eliminated all of the added mercury from our alkaline batteries since 1993, while maintaining the performance you demand. Our alkaline batteries are composed primarily of common metals—steel, zinc, and manganese—and do not pose a health or environmental risk during normal use or disposal.

It is important not to dispose of large amounts of alkaline batteries in a group. Used batteries are often not completely "dead." Grouping used batteries together can bring these "live" batteries into contact with one another, creating safety risks.

Proven cost-effective and environmentally safe recycling processes are not yet universally available for alkaline batteries. Some communities offer recycling or collection of alkaline batteries—contact your local government for disposal practices in your area.”

HOW TO PROPERLY DISPOSE OF LATEX AND OIL-BASED PAINT

What to do with left-over paint is one of the most popular questions asked of Westmoreland Cleanways. Following are some general guidelines for proper disposal of the material:

- Any paint, latex or oil-based, that has dried and hardened in the can may be thrown away in normal trash. Any can with less than one inch of liquid may be thrown away in the normal trash.
- Latex paint is considered non-hazardous and can be dried and thrown away with normal household trash. One effective method involves pouring the paint over an absorbent substance, such as clay-based cat litter or shredded newspaper. Let the cat litter or newspaper dry, put it in a plastic bag and throw away. Let the cans dry and put them in the trash with the lids removed.
- A product called “Krud Kutter Waste Paint Hardener”, available at local retailers, can be used to dry and dispose of latex and oil-based paint. Krud Kutter is a powder which is poured directly into the paint. Once the paint hardens it can be thrown away with your normal trash. Each packet will dry up to 2/3 gallon of paint. Visit www.krudkutter.com to find a local supplier.
- If a product like Krud Kutter is not used, oil-based paint is considered hazardous and should be disposed at a household hazardous waste collection event.

How Much Paint Do I Really Need?

The most effective way to reduce the amount of paint for disposal is to purchase only the amount you need to complete the job. To determine the amount of paint you will need, first determine the square footage to be painted, and then divide that by the number of square feet a gallon of paint will cover (approximately 400 sq. ft.). For example, how much paint would be needed using two coats of paint for a 12 foot by 15 foot room with an 8 foot ceiling, one door, and two windows?

Measure the total distance (perimeter) around the room  $(12 \text{ ft.} + 15 \text{ ft.}) \times 2 = 54 \text{ ft.}$

2) Multiply the perimeter by the ceiling height to find the total wall area:  $54 \text{ ft.} \times 8 \text{ ft.} = 432 \text{ sq. ft.}$

3) Subtract the square feet of the doors (usually 21 square feet) and the windows (15 square feet each for this example) from 432 sq. ft. (which we determined to be the total wall area):  $432 - 21 \text{ sq. ft.}$  (doors,  $1 \times 21$ ) -  $30 \text{ sq. ft.}$  (windows,  $2 \times 15$ ) =  $381 \text{ sq. ft.}$  The total square footage to be painted is 381 sq. ft.

4) Multiply that by the number of coats needed,  $2 \times 381 \text{ sq. ft.} = 762 \text{ sq. ft.}$

5) Generally, one gallon of paint will cover 400 square feet. (However, coverage is affected by the texture of the surface and quality of the paint).  $762 \text{ sq. ft.} / 400 \text{ sq. ft.} = 1.9$  gallons of paint.

 WHAT WE'RE ALL ABOUT

Westmoreland Cleanways is a nonprofit 501(c)(3) organization whose mission is to protect, restore and maintain the environmental qualities of our county for the benefit of all who live, work, and visit herein.

Westmoreland Cleanways accomplishes its mission by sponsoring and promoting programs that address the proper disposal of solid waste through recycling, special collections, and the cleanup of illegal dumpsites and littered areas.
